October 9th and 10th 2026

Killarney National Park offers a stunning array of landscapes, from ancient woodlands to majestic mountains and beautiful lakes.

The autumn time in October brings longer, more dramatic golden hours, perfect for capturing the park's beauty in a warm, rich light.

The annual deer rut takes place time of year, this is the mating season for native red and Sika deer, this is one of wildlife's great spectacles and should not be missed.

The woodlands in Killarney National Park often display stunning Autumn colours, creating a riot of colour for your photos. West Kerry which is part of The Wild Atlantic Way is a stunning coastal region renowned for its rugged beauty, dramatic cliffs, secluded beaches, and charming coastal villages. This location offers a unique and unforgettable photographic experience.

DAY 1

We will meet in Killarney Friday morning, where we will depart for West Kerry at 10am.

Full day photo shoot in various locations in West Kerry also known as the Dingle Peninsula.

The sun sits lower in the sky at this time of year creating long shadows and more intense warmer colours, highly regarded by landscape photographers around the World.

We will stop for a coffee and a quick photo shoot of Dingle town, before we head West to the coastal area of the Wild Atlantic Way.

There are many photographic locations in this area, such as Coumeennoole, Dunquin, Clogher and The Three Sisters.

Lunch will be an informal cafe lunch and an opportunity for a short editing workshop before we resume our afternoon shoot.

Sunset if we are lucky will be around 6.57pm, after which we will head back to Killarney.

The evening will be your own to explore the bustling and vibrant town of Killarney, where there is a large choice of restaurants.

DAY 2

We will have full access to all areas of Killarney National Park.

Irelands oldest and largest National Park, considered to be the jewel in the crown of Ireland's National Parks.

This will be an 7am start as sunrise will be around 7.52am, our first location will be Ross Castle, a 15th century castle situated on the shores of Lough Leane.
We will then take a short break for breakfast.

There are many photographic locations in this area, such as Torc Waterfall, The Gap of Dunloe and Native woodlands.

This is also the time of year for the the annual "Deer Rut", truly a spectacular time of year in the Park, when the Red stags engage in dramatic battles for territory and hinds.

Lunch will be an informal café lunch.

That evening we will meet in Killarney for an informal dinner and a recap conversation of our two days shoot, where we will continue on to one of the towns many musical venues to hear some authentic traditional Irish music.
